

The New Army in Training
Rudyard KIPLING (1868 - 1936)

Kipling's brief assessment of the British New Army being assembled to fight in the Great War. Concerns itself with training and logistics but more importantly with the human side of the vast collection of new battalions. These come from throughout the Empire, including Canada, India, and other territories. – Summary by KevinS

Read by KevinS. Total running time: 01:30:09

This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit librivox.org.

Cover picture by H.D. Girdwood (1915, 'A battalion of the new army resting on a march [near Merville, France]'). Copyright expired in U.S., Canada, EU. and all countries with author's life +70 yrs laws. Cover design by Leanne Yau. This design is in the public domain.